Website

You may use the Learn to Feed (www.learntofeed.com) without providing any personal information. If you would like to make an enquiry via the website, you are required to provide your contact details such as your name, email address and contact number. This will allow us to respond to your enquiry.

If your enquiry does not result in an appointment, your information will be deleted. If your enquiry is followed by an appointment, your information will be added to our records.

If you sign up or opt in to our newsletter, your email address will be kept on record. You may unsubscribe from this at any time. When you unsubscribe, your email address will be deleted from our records.

If you make a purchase through our website, your information will be stored on our website host, Wix. Only the details you provide during purchase will be stored here. All information provided thereafter will be stored on WriteUpp.

How we get the personal information and why we have it:

Most of the personal information we process is provided to us directly by you or in the case of a baby/child (under 16 years old), you as their parents/guardians. We also receive personal information indirectly with prior consent. This information may be received from the following sources:

- Other health care professionals
- Alternative and allied professionals
- Nurseries and schools

This information is provided for one of the following reasons:

- You require a breastfeeding assessment and/or intervention
- Your baby or child requires a feeding assessment and/or intervention
- You require education relating to infant feeding or your baby/child's feeding difficulties
- You have opted-in or signed up to our newsletter

We use the information that you have given us in order to:

- Provide quality and appropriate assessment and interventions
- Provide holistic services
- Provide personalised assessment and intervention
- Provide personalised education in relation to feeding
- Contact you in relation to your or your baby/child's care
- Maintain the running of the business
- Conduct clinical audits to assess and improve our services. Results of audits are always presented with all client identities removed
- Share information with you

We may share this information to third parties with your consent. These third parties include:

- Other professionals involved in your or your baby/child's care such as the GP, hospitals, educational facilities, and other allied health professionals.

- Financial information may be shared with Learn to Feed's accountant in order to comply with local tax laws. For further information on their privacy policy, please contact us.
- Information may be used for research or teaching purposes with written consent from yourself or a parent/guardian.

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), the lawful bases we rely on for processing this information is your consent. You can withdraw your consent at any time. You can do this by contacting savannah@learntofeed.com.

For legal reasons, we will share personal information with companies and organisations if the disclosure of information is reasonably required to:

- Meet any applicable, regulation, legal process, or enforceable government request
- Meet the requirements of the Children's Act 2015
- To protect against harm to the rights, property, or safety of Learn to Feed, our service users and the public as required or permitted by law

How we store and protect your personal information:

We will aim to protect your data in a number of ways, this includes:

- Limiting the data we collect to adequate and relevant information
- Keeping only the data that is required
- Limiting accessibility to third parties
- Retaining the data for only as long as required (see below) and destroying the data securely and confidentially after the period of retention has elapsed
- Ensuring data is up-to-date and accurate
- Removing personal identifiers where they are not required

Your information is securely stored in our systems to ensure that your data is protected. We store information in the following ways:

Electronic Data:

- Learn to Feed uses an electronic system called WriteUpp which is compliant with general data protection regulations
- Prior to being uploaded to WriteUpp, documents may be temporarily stored on a OneDrive system which is only accessible via a password held by Savannah Senior
- Any documents or programmes containing confidential information are password protected
- Video recordings/voice recordings relating to your or your baby/child's care will be analysed and then securely destroyed. If written consent has been provided to use recordings for training purposes, you are able to withdraw your consent at any time

- If you have opted-in or signed up to our newsletter, your email address will be stored via our website host, Wix, which is compliant with general data protection regulations. If you unsubscribe, your email address will be deleted
- If you make a purchase through our website, the details you provide will be stored via our website host, Wix, which is compliant with general data protection regulations. You are able to view their privacy policy on their website

Paper-based Records:

- We aim to limit paper-based records where possible
- All paper-based records are physically located at the home of Savannah Senior in a cabinet with a lock and key
- Only Savannah Senior has access to these records
- Where possible we will aim to upload all paper-based records to electronic systems and subsequently destroy these paper-based records confidentially

In accordance with the law, all clinically relevant records will be retained until your baby or child is 25 years or 26 years if the young person was 17 years when treatment ended. Financial data will be retained for a minimum period of six years after the completion of the transactions, acts, or operations to which they relate.

After the time frame above has elapsed, we will dispose of your and/or your baby/child's data securely. If under investigation or litigation is likely, files must be held in original form indefinitely.
